Hosting a student from overseas could make a world of difference, for them and you.

Is there room in your home to host a high school student visiting South Australia for a term or longer? Few volunteer activities will be as deeply satisfying and emotionally rewarding as supporting a young person, caring for them, making them feel welcome and giving them a taste of Australian life. Many families have gone on to develop lasting relationships with students and their families.

What will you learn by hosting a student from overseas?

Everyone gets something different from the experience. There is no doubt you will learn a lot about new languages, culture, food, customs and traditions. By getting out and experiencing your own town and state through their eyes, you will also find a new appreciation for the life we lead.

You will care for them and we will care for you.

Whilst it is undoubtedly a responsibility looking after someone else's son or daughter, it's one you won't have to face alone. Not only will you find other Homestay families willing to offer advice and share activities, our Homestay team has a 24-hour support line. International Educational Service (IES) will provide a comprehensive briefing session and their website and literature has many suggestions about how to support your student. You will also receive a weekly allowance.

What does it take to be a Homestay family?

There is no such thing as a typical Homestay family. You can be single, married, a family with children or retired.

If you are interested in becoming a Homestay family please contact Seaview High School to register. The school will provide information about the application process. Following your application, IES will meet with you at your home to go through the Homestay approval process.

We are urgently seeking Homestay families and we encourage community members to consider this unique experience.
